WHY ARE YOU IN SCHOOL? - EDITORIAL

You go to school to get an education. When you get an education, you learn to accomplish things. You go to a boarding school to improve your education in many ways. You learn to live with many people, learn to accept responsibility, and to share in the operation of the school. You receive training that will help you work with others as a team, and learn to make wise decisions. You learn to accept proper social standards, and to accept rules and regulations that govern your actions at different schools, and in communities away from school. You learn how to use your free time properly, learn to accept suggestions, and to try to improve yourselves day by day. You learn experiences that you will have in the classroom, shop, agriculture, and home economics. In these classrooms, you will be given the opportunities to gain the knowledge, and receive training necessary to reach the goal in education you have set for yourself. You go to school to understand and interpret national and international events, and to learn the importance of personal and community living.

ROOM I - PLAYDAY

Last Friday, October 20, Room I had their playday. The students from town came to play games and to have fun. They came at 1:30 P.M. Each of us had partners but a few had two or three partners. We played games such as: the peanut race, blowing the ping-pong ball down to the end of the gym, pushing a basketball down to the end of the gym and back, gunny-sack race, fire leap, and a few others. We finished playing about 4:15, then we brought them to the dorms and showed them the dorm and washroom. We then went outside. At 5:00 we went to eat and about 6:00 they went back home. We all had a fine time.

A PROBLEM OF TEENAGERS

There are a lot of teenagers in the world who have a lot of problems. Some of the problems may be very hard to solve, and some may take up a lot of time. One of the problems that teenagers share is the way they look. Some boys may not be handsome, some girls may not be pretty, some may not have nice clothes, but you can do the best with what you've got. If you don't look pretty, you may have a nice personality and it's personality that really counts!

CLASS NEWS - ROOM B

On my birthday I ate cake, ice cream, milk, peas, and potatoes.

We had lots of fun at the birthday party. We played music too.

ROOM C

We have been studying about vegetables in our class. We learned why vegetables are good for us. We learned how they grow. We cut pictures of vegetables and arranged them on our bulletin board. We learned each by name. Many of us learned to spell the names as we found most of these vegetables on our menu. Mrs. Johnson's class brought a pan of seeds they were growing. We looked each day to see how the seeds opened and sprouted. We will study fruits the same way.

Rosie Prince
Jane Atwater

NEWS FROM ROOM D

Room D had the September bulletin board "Making Friends." It showed the "Keys to Friendship" which were, a kind heart, helpful hands, and the Golden Rule.

The latest bulletin board featured "Let's Explore Science." It showed Benjamin Franklin's kite and lightning, electrical equipment, magnets, jets, tools for measuring, a pulley, some kinds of plants, leaves, fruits, rocks, shells, birds, insects, reptiles, and animals.

ROOM E

Our class had the first assembly program. We acted out the THREE LITTLE PIGS. William Kagak was the wolf. The first little pig was Mary Kalcak, the second little pig was Margaret Kippi. The third little pig was Vera Solomon. Doreen Edwardson was the mother pig.

We decorated our room for Halloween. On the walls we have scarecrows, jack-o-lanterns, bats, witches, and many other things. We have a scary old skeleton too.

Why don't you come and visit us?

ROOM F

Our social studies class has been studying about maps for a long time. Our class is learning about the different towns and cities where the people live in Alaska. We have been putting all the villages on large maps. We haven't got all the towns on the map yet. We have all been studying how to use our maps in a good way. We want to send our maps to our parents. We hope they like them very much.

If you like animals you will laugh at them in a program given by Room F in November, don't miss our program.

NEWS FROM ROOM G

About 22 girls and 16 boys started to go to town by bus to the Alaska Music Trail Concert. We started fine but our bus' motor stopped and we could not go. We got out of the bus and started walking back to the Institute. We walked all the way from the airport. Mr. Rifenbery led us having a flashlight. We were glad that he brought a flashlight with him. We will go to the Music Trails Concert sometime again this month. Hope next time we will have a good time, not just to walk back when we are all excited to go.

HOMEMAKING NEWS

Last month, the girls in homemaking class went to town to look at the fashions in the stores. There were skirts, blouses, shoes, sweaters, almost everything. Some were made of wool, cotton, and other fabrics. There were lots of foods that we could just heat and serve. There were also some sunflowers to plant and to use in planting. We had a lot of fun in town.

Student: Yes! I'm glad it's Friday.

SCIENCE CORNER - THE SUN

Of all the heavenly bodies, the sun is the most important to us here on earth. Without the sun's heat and light, man, animals, and plants would not live and grow.

The sun is the middle of the solar system for the earth and all other planets move in great circles around it. Yet the sun is just a medium sized star. It is only one among countless billions of stars in the heavens.

Of all the stars the sun is the nearest to the earth. That is why it looks so much bigger and brighter than any other star. If it were as far away from the earth as the stars in the Big Dipper are, the sun would be so small, we could not see it without using a telescope. At that distance, the brightest star in the Dipper would be nearly 14,000 times brighter than the sun.

AV PROGRAM

Bulletin boards in hallways and classrooms are good examples of excellent work by students and teachers. Some classrooms are presenting very good examples of the "Working Atmosphere." The bulletin boards alone give no impression that work is going on.

Students are taking good advantage of the school library. During the month of September, we witnessed reading experiences in all categories. Fiction took the lead with students checking out 100 books. Social Studies ranked second with 18 books having been checked out. The number of books checked out for October has already surpassed that of September. Let us keep reading.

Within a few days you will recognize some changes in our library setup. Some categories will be done away with completely. Others will be reorganized to permit more space on the shelves. Old books will be repaired. You will get the chance to read new books before the cover has been removed. Filmstrips, movies, and records will be moved from their present location to the library. These materials will only be handled by teachers and members of the A-V Club.

Most of the changes mentioned are being made possible because of the organization of the Audio-Visual Club. The club officers are as follows:

President.....Gloria David
Vice-President.....Ida Oyagak
Secretary.....Bertlyn Thomas
Treasurer.....Arthur Fields, Jr.
Members.....Fannie Brown, Bert Kanayurak, Martha Adams, Walter Toorak, Ernestine Jones, Phillip Masuleak, and Arthur Panigeo.

We are hoping that the club can be made available to other students as the school year progresses.

SNOPPY JOES

One Saturday night at the dance in the Girls Rec Room one of the girls kept looking at a boy hoping he would dance with her. If you really want to be snoppy try and figure out their initials. Their initials are (girl K.C. and (boy) S.J. You really have to think hard.

When the girls walk by the boys dorm, or when they walk around the campus, the boys always say hup-two-three-four to the girls as they walk. I think the boys want the girls to be in the army for a change maybe they want us to practice. Do you think so, girls?

Gossip has been going around the Girls Dorm that K.L. has a crush on S.C. and T.W. I wonder if she really likes the two boys.

O.T. was whistling at D.S. and V.S. out the window of the dorm. He probably appreciates whistling at girls out the window. C.S. was also doing the same thing at E.S. and E.N.
